STRAWBERRY PLANTS

I know of no crop that has, over a period of years, made the farmer, market gardener and home gardener more money than strawberries. In good times or bad times they have sold at some price, mostly good prices, and that is more than lots of other farm products have done. Strawberries do not require such a choice piece of land, but will not grow successfully on land upon which water collects and stands. Strawberries will do all right on low wet land, providing the water drains right off.

The customary way of planting in this section is to have the rows 3 1/2 feet apart and set the plants 18 to 20 inches apart in the drill. This method of planting will require about 6,000 plants to the acre.

There are a great many varieties of strawberry plants, but I am listing only the two I grow, as I consider them the best early and late varieties. The plants offered are grown by myself and are quoted only for express shipment within the state of Arkansas.

Improved Klondike This is the leading early shipping berry in this section. There has been introduced other early shipping varieties that are claimed to be better but I have yet to find them. This variety is noted for its large yields of beautiful berries, uniform in shape, rich blood-red in color, and a flavor that is neither sweet nor sour, but mildly delicious. By express, not prepaid, 250 plants, $5c. 500 plants, $1.25. 1,000 plants, $2.00. 5,000 plants $9.00.

Evening Star This is without a doubt one of the finest large late strawberries on the market. It ripens about a month or six weeks after the Klondike. It is similar to the Gandy in size and color but about one week later in ripening. It is far superior to the Gandy in that it is a self pollen berry, the fruit is more solid, and it produces much heavier yield. I do not recommend this variety for long distance shipping. Prices by express, not prepaid, 250 plants, $1.15. 500 plants, $1.75. 1,000 plants, $3.25. 5,000 plants, $15.00.
